

Property Owner-Resident Rate Eligibility Criteria

Any person who played Haymaker during 2008 or 2009 at Resident rates, based on his/her status as a property owner (and such person's spouse and children under 21), whether such person played as a passholder, punch card holder or as a daily fee resident, shall be eligible for Resident rates for season passes or punch cards, but not daily fee rates, in 2010. Any such person must continue to be a Property Owner and purchase a season pass or punch card each year without interruption to maintain eligibility for Resident rates in the future.

Any entity-owned or multiple-party ownership property (e.g. LLC, trust, corporation, partnership, or co-ownership other than husband-wife) that registered at Haymaker in order to provide a designated individual and his family with eligibility for Resident rates during 2008 or 2009 must annually designate an owner representative who then purchases a season pass or punch card each year without interruption to maintain eligibility for Resident rates for passes or punch cards in the future.